The Need for PRAM Educational ERP

Educational institutions encounter significant challenges, including inefficiencies, data silos, and resource mismanagement.

High costs from ERP vendors and annual maintenance fees exacerbate these issues.

Institutions often lack access to their data, relying heavily on their ERP vendors.

A transformative approach is essential for developing equitable ERP systems that address the evolving needs of students and stakeholders.

PRAM Educational ERP is the solution to these challenges

Universal Mobile App

PRAM's mobile app offers a universal solution that allows users to switch between different roles seamlessly. With just one login, you can manage all aspects of your professional and personal educational responsibilities.

Example: You are a faculty member at a school, also a parent of two children attending different schools. One child goes to a school, while the other attends a different school and stays in a hostel. Both children also attend coaching classes in separate locations. Additionally, as a faculty member, you are also a student pursuing higher studies. With PRAM's universal app, you can switch roles effortlessly: Check your children's academic progress, hostel updates, and coaching schedules. Manage your duties as a faculty member. Track your own higher education journey—all within the same app. No need for multiple logins or apps—PRAM consolidates everything under one unified platform.
